On Sunday, May 22nd, practitioners of Chinese medicine from all over the San Francisco Bay Area gathered for the Seventh Annual Chinese Medical Health Screening. The event was co-sponsored by the Marin County Department of Health and Human Services. The Screening, part of the Pine Street Foundation's Community Education program, is an annual event designed to engage the general public on integrative health issues; it empowers individuals with information and demonstrates the value of incorporating additional medical modalities into one's pursuit of optimal health.
